BOY EXONERATED

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 12.—Raymond Schneider repudiated his alleged confession in which he accused Clifford Hayes, 19, of the murders of Rev. E. W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills. Hayes was released later.

The Dillens, George and Grace, alleged murderers of Wallace C. Williams, at Tonopah, have been apprehended. They were arrested Wednesday at Bakersfield, Calif., and are held for extradition to Nevada, according to information received at the sheriff's office from the California officials.

The crime with which the accused are charged was committed in Tonopah several weeks ago, but was not discovered until Sunday, Oct. 1, when the body of a man, later identified as that of Wallace Williams, was found in a shallow grave about three-quarters of a mile from Frazier wells, which are six and one-half miles from Tonopah. James Zimpatti and John Roush made the discovery and immediately reported it to the officials. The body was exhumed and brought to Tonopah and a coroner's inquest held on Oct. 3. Several witnesses were examined. The most important story told was that by James Zimpatti, who related that Mrs. Dillen had induced him to drive her to the wells about Sept. 12, where, he stated, she fired two shots at him from a revolver. Later he stated she went to the spot where the body was found and upon her return carried a watch, which she gave to him in payment for his services. He said he sold the watch later, but that the woman had filed off some initials before he would accept it.
